

Key highlights from the last two weeks:

EU Commissioners. On 7 October, Mairead McGuinness was confirmed as the Commissioner for Financial Services, Financial Stability & Capital Markets Union (CMU) by the European Parliament. She won the backing of 583 MEPs, with only 75 voting against her appointment and a further 37 abstaining. Valdis Dombrovskis was also confirmed in his new position as Commissioner for Trade with MEPs voting 515 in favour and 110 against with 70 abstentions.

MiFID II quick-fix. The DE Presidency circulated its most recent draft Council compromise text on the MiFID II 'quick fix' on 5 October, including the most recent amendments to commodity markets rules. The Council's most recent text specifies that the criterion for determining critical or significant contracts of 300,000 lots of open interest should be stipulated in the Level I text. ESMA should therefore only consider the number and size of market participants and the commodity underlying the derivative concerned when elaborating additional criteria. Notably, the Council text does not make substantive changes to the proposed qualitative ancillary activity test.

ESMA final report on MiFIR non-equity transparency. On 29 September, ESMA published its final review report on the MiFIR non-equity transparency regime. The ESMA report concludes that the transparency regime for non-equity instruments contained in MiFIR is convoluted and overly complex. Ultimately, this is to the detriment of meaningful transparency in non-equity markets. Accordingly, ESMA makes a number of proposals to simplify and improve the transparency requirements for non-equity instruments.

Council compromise text on BMR. On 7 October, the Council agreed upon its compromise text and negotiating mandate on the Commission's BMR reform proposal. The Council position envisages the introduction of an additional exemption for spot foreign exchange benchmarks with a review of the exemption's use to be undertaken in 2027. The Council also broadens the powers of the Commission to designate replacement reference rates beyond critical financial benchmarks. The Council also favours enabling EU supervised entities to continue using third-country benchmarks until 2025 as opposed to 2021 thus allowing for a smoother transition.

ESMA draft technical standards on third-country investment firms under IFR/IFD. On 28 September, ESMA submitted draft technical standards to the Commission elaborating additional information requirements for the registration and annual reporting of third-country investment firms. The Commission has a period of three months to adopt the technical standards with or without amendments. Thereafter, they will be submitted to the co-legislators in accordance with the correct non-objection procedure.

The 9th round of negotiations on the EU-UK future relationship were concluded last week. Talks have been intensifying in the interest of finding an agreement in enough time to allow for ratification by both parties before the end of the year. The 9th round of negotiations were constructive with the UK submitting several negotiating papers on the most difficult outstanding issues yet to be resolved - namely the level-playing field &amp; state aid, fisheries, law enforcement &amp; judicial cooperation and social security cooperation. While there has been progress, the negotiations are not yet at a stage where they can enter the so-called “tunnel” or “submarine” phase – a period of highly intensive and sensitive talks that typically result in negotiators arriving at a final agreement. According to press reports, it is unlikely that negotiations will enter the “tunnel” until after the EU leaders summit on 15 and 16 October. Despite progress in negotiations, on 1 October, the European Commission sent a letter of formal notice to the UK concerning the Internal Market Bill. The EU reiterates its concerns that the Internal Market Bill constitutes a breach of the Withdrawal Agreement. ## MiFID II

CMCE priorities: AA exemption, position limits, reporting, physical forwards

Latest developments & CMCE action

On 5 October, the DE Presidency circulated the most recent version of the Council compromise text on the MiFID II 'quick fix'. The Council's draft compromise text includes a number of amendments to the Commission's proposals to reform the position limits regime.

- The Council compromise text specifies that the criterion for determining critical or significant contracts – to which position limits will apply – of 300,000 lots of open interest should be stipulated in the Level I text. Accordingly, this is not a criterion that ESMA will have discretion to disregard when developing technical standards to further outline the characteristics of critical or significant contracts.
- When developing technical standards to further elaborate the criteria to qualify significant or critical contracts ESMA should take into account; (i) the number of market participants, and; (ii) the commodity underlying the derivative concerned.
- ESMA will be empowered to create a list of commodity contracts, including derivatives where the underlying is food for human consumption, to which position limits apply.
- In cases where commodity derivatives that share the same underlying are traded in significant volumes in more than one jurisdiction, the relevant competent authorities can agree that the baseline limit for setting position limits on said contracts can be derived from the trading venue where the highest open interest is traded.

Otherwise - apart from minor editorial changes - the substance of the Commission's initial proposal on the ancillary activity test remains largely unamended by the Council at this juncture.

On 1 October, ESMA has issued a public statement regarding the impact of Brexit on the application of certain MiFID II/MiFIR provisions.

In particular, ESMA addresses the post-Brexit application of;

- The C(6) carve-out;
- The ESMA opinions on third-country trading venues for the purpose of post-trade transparency; and,

- The position limits regime and post-trade transparency for OTC transactions.

On 29 September, ESMA published its final review report on the MiFIR non-equity transparency regime. The ESMA report concludes that the transparency regime for non-equity instruments contained in MiFIR is convoluted and overly complex to the detriment of meaningful transparency in non-equity markets. The report contains a variety of recommendations to the Commission as to how the regime could be improved. These include;

- ESMA recommends removing both the waiver and the deferral for orders and transactions above the size-specific to the instrument threshold;
- ESMA proposes introducing a streamlined deferral regime through the creation of a simplified system with an emphasis on volume masking. According to the new system full publication of transaction details would be required after two weeks with no further possibility for supplementary deferrals being granted by NCAs;
- ESMA recommends that the possibility to suspend the DTO at short notice be introduced;
- ESMA also argues in favour of specifying further criteria used to grant equivalence to third-country trading venues for the purposes of the DTO.

CMCE action

A MiFID WG took place on 23 September to discuss how CMCE should engage in the MiFID II quick fix legislative process to seek more legal certainty around how the ancillary activity exemption will work under the revised regime.

The advisors engaged with EFET, FIA and ISDA to seek to coordinate actions on the AAE. Members are consulted on suggested next steps, including a CMCE email to Markus Ferber MEP, noting the need for clarifications on the AAE to be provided in the LI text, as opposed to RTS drafted by ESMA.
