

Key highlights from the last two weeks:

MiFID II/MiFIR. On 6 May, ESMA updated its Opinion on ancillary activity calculations. The opinion provides the estimation of the market size of commodity derivatives and emission allowances for 2020 thereby facilitating the determination of ancillary activity relative to overall market trading activity. ESMA had calculated the extent of trading activity or market size on the basis of trading venues' submissions to the ESMA FITRS system for the years 2020 and 2019, as well as trading figures from trading venues located in the EEA for the year 2018. Data on OTC trading activity has been sourced from reports submitted to Trade Repositories (TRs). The total market size for both on-venue and OTC markets – gross notional value traded in EUR – was calculated on a dual-sided basis whereby both buyers' and sellers' notional values of each transaction were added to together to reach a gross notional figure. Based on this methodology, ESMA has provided calculations of market size for various contract types and asset classes.

EMIR. On 28 April, the European Commission published a draft Implementing Regulation extending the transitional provisions concerning own funds requirements for exposures to third-country CCPs. The draft act is open for public feedback until 26 May 2021. The measure seeks to extend by 12 months, until 28 June 2022, the transitional period during which EU-based financial institutions with exposures to third-country CCPs that are not recognized in accordance with EMIR may treat those exposures as if they were exposures to a recognized CCP. This would ensure that EU-based financial institutions with such exposures would not be subject to higher own funds requirements during the recognition process for certain third-country CCPs.

BCBS/CPMI/IOSCO. On 5 May, The BCBS, CPMI & IOSCO have launched a review of margining practices in cleared and uncleared derivatives and securities markets which will encompass an assessment of the use of margin calls during the period of market volatility in March 2020. There is a possibility that IOSCO may propose a requirement for margin to be set at the highest/stress period scenario levels at all times. This would clearly imply higher margin and hedging costs for market participants. As part of its review, IOSCO is conducting two surveys; one addressed to non-bank intermediaries and the other to clients and end-users. The deadline for responses to the survey is 17 May 2021. We would strongly advise CMCE members to respond.

EU Taxonomy/CSRD. On 7 May, the European Commission published a draft Delegated Act specifying disclosure requirements for non-financial and financial undertakings in accordance with Article 8 of the Taxonomy. The draft Delegated Act is open for public feedback until 8 September 2021. By way of background, Article 8 of the Taxonomy introduces additional disclosure requirements in the Non-Financial Reporting Directive (NFRD). According to these Taxonomy-related disclosures, non-financial and financial undertakings must provide information on the extent to which their commercial activities and/or operations are Taxonomy-aligned. In other words, they must indicate the degree to which their activities and operations qualify as environmentally sustainable as defined by the Taxonomy. Three key performance indicators (KPIs) must be used to illustrate the extent of Taxonomy-alignment; turnover derived from taxonomy-aligned activities, capital expenditure related to such activities, and operational expenditure associated with such activities.

The CSRD proposal, if adopted, will dramatically increase the scope of sustainability disclosure requirements by capturing a much broader range of companies. By extension, the Taxonomy-related disclosures described above would apply. On 5 May, The BCBS, CPMI & IOSCO have launched a review of margining practices in cleared and uncleared derivatives and securities markets which will encompass an assessment of the use of margin calls during the period of market volatility in March 2020. On 24 March, ESMA published an updated public statement on the post-Brexit application of the BMR. ESMA has updated the public statement to reflect the recent extension of the transitional period for the use of third-country benchmarks introduced during the BMR 'quick fix'. ESMA reiterates that despite UK benchmark administrators now qualifying as third-country administrators, the change in their status on the ESMA register will not effect the ability of EU27 supervised entities to use the benchmarks provided by UK benchmark administrators due to the BMR 'quick fix' reform. ESMA adds that UK recognized and endorsed third-country benchmarks – which refers to non-UK and non-EU benchmarks recognized or endorsed in the UK - can still be used by EU27 third-country entities during the BMR transitional period (which runs until 31 December 2023).	30 April 2021 – Deadline to submit response to ESMA consultation on guidelines for alternative benchmark methodologies

On 24 March, ESMA opened a consultation in relation to draft technical advice to the European Commission on the simplification and harmonization of fees for trade repositories (TRs) under EMIR and SFTR. The consultation will remain open until 24 April 2021. International role of the euro	On 19 January, the European Commission published a Communication emphasizing the need for the EU to enhance what the Commission refers to as ‘open strategic autonomy’. Effectively, this will entail increasing the role of the Euro globally – particularly in energy and commodity markets. As a result, the Commission will promote the use of the Euro and Euro-denominated investments through engagement and trade negotiations with international partners and foster the use of the Euro as a reserve currency and means of

	exchange. Perhaps more directly for financial markets – the Commission highlights that, in some instances, EU market participants are dependent on third-country market infrastructures. For example, a large volume of Euro-denominated contracts are cleared and settled by CCPs outside the EU. In response to this, the Commission would like to reduce the systemic significance of third-country market infrastructure and their fundamental role in the functioning of EU financial markets. Accordingly, the Commission intends to build the capacity of EU market infrastructure to allow a greater volume of euro-denominated financial contracts to be cleared by EU CCPs.
